If you decide to go to university, you can apply for student finance. To calculate what financial support you could receive, you can check the online calculator at www.gov.uk/student-finance-calculator. There are tuition fee loans, maintenance loans and grants available as well as scholarships at some universities. These vary from one university to another, so you are best to research the university you are interested in and look on their website for details of bursaries and other financial support they may offer on top of student finance.
